Seventeen magazines and many pamphlets have been sent as gifts.

During the past year the non-fiction has been re-arranged on the shelves to read uniformly from left to right in the same way as the fiction. Badly worn books have been removed and mended when possible. The C. W. A. has enabled the library to have a professional book mender for a month, which has been a great help.

On September 30, 1933, a new children's room was opened in what had been the reference room This relieved a badly overcrowded condition in the old children's room. Steel book cases to match the News-Letter case were bought for the reading room in which the encyclopædias and other ready reference books have been shelved. The old children's room has been made into a study room where the genealogies, town histories, state papers and state laws may all be found.

At the time that the children's room was changed a modern charging system, much more efficient and rapid, was installed in the Junior department and found to be a big improvement.

The same system is now being installed in the adult department. The system is now in use in that department, although installation is not yet complete. This new charging system has been made possible in the adult department by the splendid work of Miss Christine Hogan, a C. W. S. worker.

Children's book week was as usual observed at the library. This year a special display of unusual and well illustrated children's books was arranged for the week. Most of the books in the exhibition were loaned by interested Exeter residents.

PRISCILLA ROYS,

Librarian.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

To the Board of Trustees of Robinson Seminary:

Registration in Junior High	110
Registration in Senior High	164
Total	274
Total for 1932-1933	293
Decrease	19
Number of discharges to January 31, 1934	15

Number of tuition pupils in 1932-1933	70

Change in Personnel

With the exception of Miss Fannie Perley, who retired in June after twenty-six years of service, the faculty for 1933-1934 remains the same as last year.

Miss Eleanor V. Sayward has replaced Miss Clark as secretary to the Principal.

Relations with Post-Secondary Institutions

Recent graduates have selected the following institutions for additional training:

Berea College, Kentucky	1
Bluefield College, West Virginia	1
Concord Business College	1
Keene Normal School	1
Lasell Junior College, Massachusetts	2
Plymouth Normal School	2
University of New Hampshire	5
Waltham Hospital School of Nursing, Massachusetts	2
Wellesley, Massachusetts	1
Western College for Women, Ohio	1

The above list includes ten institutions in five different states representing the choice of seventeen girls, as they pursue their varied interests for which the Seminary is capable of offering the necessary preparation. Both candidates for admission to Wellesley through the medium of College Entrance Board examinations in June, 1933, were successful but one postponed entrance until 1934. One Seminary graduate stood among the first one per-cent in examinations taken for entrance into Berea College and received, on one examination, a mark higher than any student in Kentucky on a similar examination.

The above evidence is added, to that generally known, to support the contention that the Seminary can and does prepare girls for their post-secondary training if they are willing to do their part.

Results of Tests

During the fall term two tests were administered to the seventh grade, the Terman Group Test of Mental Ability, for grades 7-12, Form B, and the Nelson Silent Reading Test.

The results of these tests gave evidence of the need of more attention to reading in its various aspects.

Among the ten parts of the Terman Test were three on Information, Word Meaning, and Sentence Meaning. Some of the scores revealed weaknesses which are the bases for remedial work in progress at the present time.

The reading test, in two parts, vocabulary and paragraph meaning, gave another check on similar factors. It was found that the reading age in the seventh grade varied from 10-2 to 16-1 or the grade equivalent of 4.3 to 10. Such a range in reading ability as demonstrated by the standard test makes instruction much more difficult. Many pupils are promoted on knowledge which they acquire from observation and listening in class and are, at the same time, unable to obtain the information from a printed page. As the amount of necessary reading increases, the handicap becomes greater. It is the desire of the teachers to remedy the weaknesses revealed.

In the eighth grade the reading test showed a range of reading age of 11-5 to 16-8 and a range in grade equivalent of 5.6 to 10. The figures below give the important facts.

Report on Nelson Silent Reading Test

Grade	7th	8th
Number taking examination	48	53
Range of reading ages	10-2 to 16-2	11-5 to 16-8
Grade equivalent of reading ages	4.3 to 10	5.6 to 10
Median reading age	12-4	14-6
Median grade equivalent	6.5	8.5
Number exceeding grade equivalent	20	32
Percentage exceeding grade equivalent	41%	60.3%
Number below grade equivalent	28	21
Percentage below grade equivalent	58.3%	39.6%
Number exceeding grade equivalent of next higher grade	11	21
Percentage exceeding grade equivalent of next higher grade	22.9%	39.6%

Early development of proper habits is essential to good work. A recent questionnaire concerning the students interests in reading substantiated the opinion that there is not sufficient interest on the part of pupils in voluntary reading, or proper guidance (not dictation) by parents in the choice of books and magazines claiming the attention of young people. Not all reading need be along the line of subjects taken in school but quality should be a determining factor.

New Equipment and Books

With the recent installation of the new safe cabinet, adequate protection has now been provided for the active files and all permanent records. This addition to the office equipment is greatly appreciated.

Through the generosity of the Merrill Funds several valuable additions have been made to the Seminary library. Among these are:

The Conquest of a Continent . . .Grant
Rabble in Arms,. . . . . .Roberts, K.
Man of the Renaissance. . . . . .Roeder, R.
A Day in Old Rome. . . . . .Davis, W. S.
Fields of Work for Women. . . . . .Leuck, M. S.
Folkways. . . . . .Sumner, W. C.
Uncle Sam's Government. . . . . .Knapp, G.
Comparative Essays Present and Past
American Literature, 5 vols.

Relations with Parents

Some parents have expressed a sincere desire for information concerning their daughter's daily program and therefore such information has been sent to all parents. A minimum program of regular study hours has been suggested to discourage the spasmodic efforts which characterize the work of too many girls.

To assist the young ladies who receive warnings of unsatisfactory work, parents are asked to provide the home atmosphere, study condition and encouragement conductive to satisfactory achievement.

Student Activities

Before Thanksgiving the Seniors presented their annual play entitled, "The Mystery of the Masked Girl" under the direction of Miss Loomer with the usual success.

A very pleasing and successful project was started last November with the publication of the Seminarian as a monthly. With Miss C. Frances Smith as faculty adviser, the staff has produced a paper which is gaining in favor. The standard of quality desired has not yet been attained because of the lack of journalistic experience but many of the writings have been very commendable.

In the preparation of Christmas boxes, nine in number, sponsored by the Home Economics Club, the student body and faculty co-operated in a commendable manner, adding joy to their own Christmas season as well as to that of others.

The upperclass dramatic group has accepted the invitation of the Maskers of Manchester High School Central to participate in the New Hampshire Dramatic Contest late in March. It will be recalled that Robinson Seminary won second place in the state contest last year.

The Glee Club has participated in several programs, the most recent of which is that of the Woman's Club.

During the eighth period on Friday opportunity is given for the usual club program making possible participation by non-residents.

It was thought best by Miss Warren and the Principal to reduce the basketball schedule of 1934 because of the limited opportunity for pre-season practice. Six interscholastic contests were provided for in addition to the annual alumnae and faculty games.

The social program usually consisting of two dances such as the Senior one given on January 5, and the Junior Prom on February 2 will be supplemented by a dance for the benefit of the Seminarian on Friday, April 13. No superstitions exist in the minds of the Seminarian staff.

Administrative Change

It seems best to require some practical form of mathematics in each curriculum and with this theory in mind, Junior Business Training will be a required subject for the freshman class in the Home Economics curriculum in 1934-1935. French which has been an elective will remain the same and will be available for those wishing to carry the five subjects.

Conclusion

In conclusion the writer wishes to express appreciation for the splendid co-operative spirit of all the teachers in general and especially those with the large classes necessitated by certain administrative limitations.

This report brings to a close another very enjoyable year of service at Robinson Seminary.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES A. PIRNIE,
Principal.
